The great argument for Secession, addressed to the people in the South, is, that this is a war got up to abolish slavery. The Administration has repudiated any such purpose. The proclamations of all the Generals in the field show that no such thing is intended; and, up to the present time, the practice, wherever the Federal treops have had possession, refutes the charge. All this would be sufficient, if the effect were not counteracted in a great degree by men of the dominant party, in their speeches and the embassador of his enemy or his paswritings. The anti-slavery press is full of disquisitions giving the lie to the profes sions of the Administration. Even one of the Secretaries, when he gets on the hustings, talks about arming negroes, and says decided by the tribunals of international he sent an extra quantity of arms to put law, both in England and the United States into the hands of men who would fight for Either Great Britain recognizes the Confederates and the Union as "belligerents," whereby her vessels are liable to be overhauled by each, and the enemies of either to be seized from them; or it does not recognize the Southern Confed eracy as a belligerent, consequently they are pirates, and liable to be seized as such, and Mason and Slidell ought to be seized as aiders and abettors of piracy. Again, by the first stipulation of the Congress of Paris, quoted above, these men are aiders and abettors of privateering-that is piracy. England, however, has recognized the Confederacy as belligerents. As to the question, whether Mason and Slidell were "contraband," according to our explanation above, we have the authority of Dr. Pillsbury, Advocate of Her Majesty in the Ad.

Letter from O dham County.

LAGRANGE, KY., Nov. 22, 1861. Editors Democrat - Gentlemen: While Cameron is urging and recommending the arming of the slaves in the South for freedom, and to put down secession in the South, I would suggest that the free negroes North be armed also to fight for their freedom, and to put down abolitionism in their part of the country. I think there is as much reason, sense and humanity in the latter suggestion as in the former. It is my opinion that this rebellion would be soon put down if we only had a few such as Cameron in Fort Lafayette with the leading Secessionists; or if the Administration would only turn all such out of office. Then the Union men, North and South, would have sure and certain evidence that it, in prosecuting the war, is for the Constitution as our Fathers formed it, and the Secessionists &c., could have no possible cause to build their hopes upon: that is, that the object of this war is for the subjugation of the South and the extermination of slavery. I go for the direct removal of Cameron. It is but justice to the Administration and the Union men that it should be carried out immediately. Oldham, although the first to come to the call, is still enlisting and sending her soldiers in defense of our Government; but she does not intend to fight with negroes or Abolitionists, as Cameron and followers. I am for putting all the leading Secessionists and Abolition:sts together in some place where there is no chance for a negro to come within a hundred miles, and for fifty years. They would soon settle the thing

there, for they would be without their "harp of a thousand strings."

[Correspondence of the New York Heraid.] PORT ROYAL, S. C., Nov. 16, 1861. Since my communication of last Thursday there has been little or no change in the condition of affairs here. Beaufort has been "evacuated," if that term may be used to express the withdrawal of the gunboat flotilla. The town has never been occupied. Three gunboats have, for two or three days, laid at anchor in the river, within pistol shot of the village, with their heavy guns menacing it; but, with this exception, we have had no force near the town. General Sherman decided that the village had no importance in a military point of view, and to detail a regiment or two to occupy it, merely for the name of the thing, would be a most absurd and suicidal act; so it was not The rebeis threaten to burn the village. We have Hilton head, and gunboats blockading Soull creek, the only internal channel of communication between Charles ton and Savannah, and in these positions we can hold the harbor against any force. The state of affairs upon Hilton head to-day is briefly this: The fort has been thoroughly repaired; its ditch enlarged and deepened, to guard against a land attack; a number of guns mounted on the land front, covering every avenue of approach; new magazines constructed, and new works laid out and in process of construction. Other works, constituting an impregnable chain, by a land force may be repulsed at once.

Vessels of all road and the railroads. Vessels of all IARGE QUANTITIES OF ARMS within six miles of the city. Ten thousand resolute and determined men could start from the deep waters of Lake Borgne and reach, yes, reach, the landing of the city in fifteen hours. There is not an armed vessel of any importance upon the lake, and the land for more than twenty-five miles around is a low swamp, easily and effectually swept by the guns of a decent fleet, I am also assured that there could be but one point of opposition on this route, and that is the fort at the main passage between the two lakes, Borgne and Pontchartrain. It is, however, sadly out of repair, and mounts but ten or twelve small guns, and is garrisoned with but two companies of militia. men from Mississippi. If the National Government could once obtain possession of New Orleans, they could hold it against the combined power of the rebeis; they could,

without the least trouble, reduce the forts

on the Mississippi river, and effectually hold in check many of the States in rebellion. The common point touched upon by the citizens as to the results of the war, is the fear of an attack upon their city by the way of Lake Pontchartrain, and they themselves have said it could be successfully made, and the place reduced. I trust this hint will be seen by those in power and acted upon. I deem my authority perfectly re-liable, and there can be no mistake in relation to the facts set down. In addition to the excessive prices, as existing in New Orleans, given you in my last letter, I would append the following: Coffee, 60 cents per pound; bacon, 45 cents per pound; sugar, of the peorest quality, 23 cents per pound; salt pork, 40 cents; lard, 37 cents per pound. Clothing of all kinds is very scarce, and brings exorbitant prices: Common coats, $40 a piece; veste, $18 to $30 each; good black frockcoats bring $75; ladies' shoes are sold at $8 and $10 per pair; men's boots from $19 to $28 per pair, and all articles in like proportion. Dry goods especially have advanced tremendously, reaching, in some instances, seven and eight hundred per cent. advance. Corn bread is the principal article eaten, but fish are plenty and sell freely. The small force on Ship Island are working like beavers in putting the fort in proper state for defense, and the other points around the island are receiving similar attention. It is a matter of the greatest surprise that some of the regiments that are losfing about the North are not immediately sent here, as our number is totally inadequate to repel a formidable force which might be sent against us at any moment. The rebel commander, at the period of his evacuation of this position, thought our men were coming down upon him in large numbers, and so, setting fire to all his buildings, he said good-bye, and embarked with his command to New Orleans. The possession of the island to our Government is invaluable. A splendid depot or rendezvous for our blockading fleet may be constructed the glad tidings to the Southern people of another glorious Confederate victory.

The opposing armies have met in the vicinity of Springfield, the stronghold of the Federal forces, and Generals Price and McCulloch have whipped the enemy and are driving them from Missouri. The True Delta of to-day has just received a special dispatch from Memphis, saying that the Memphis Appeal of to day published an extra containing an account of a glorious victory of our troops. The news was brought to Memphis by General Price's messenger, who is on his way to Richmond with dispatches to President Davis. It Springfield, Misseurl, in which the Confederates were victorious over a vastly superior force, including Fremont's body guard. The Federal loss in killed and wounded was very Generals Price and McCulloch express themselves perfectly confident of being able to drive the enemy out of Missouri entirely.

The Legislature of Missouri have passed the Ordinance of Secession by a unanimous vote. There was a full quorum of both houses present. A bearer of dispatches from Neosho, on his way to Richmond, brings the above gratifying intelligence. Well may old Seward tell the Northeeners that the war is a failure on the part of the Administration, and that peace declared in less than sixty days, when every day brings us news of such brilliant achievements by Southern troops wherever they can get Federals to give them battle. Common sense should have taught the rump before they commenced the folly of a war against freemen that a just cause is half

From the Maysville Eagle.1 The subjoined intercepted letter from James Blackburn to his wife has been sent to us by Gen. Nelson with a request that it shall be published. In complying with the request we omit portions of the letter which are strictly of a private nature, and publish only such parts as exhibited fiendish hatred towards men in Kentucky who have only offended in remaining loyal to their country and State. James Black-burn was a schoolmate of the editor, and our personal relations were friendly. is a son of Edward Blackburn, of Woodford county, and a brother in law of Thompson Flournoy, of Arkansas, in which State he has himself resided for several years. We have no doubt that the devilish and murderous spirit exhibited by the latter are shared by most of the renegades who have lifted their traitor hands against their native State, and all hesitating Union men may see from it what they have to expect if they shall ever be placed at the mercy of such men as aur quondam acquaintance:

ABINGDON, VA, Ost. 2d, 1861.

My Dear Wife-I have left you and our children in the land of the despot but God grant that I may soon be able to make the Union men of Kentucky feel the edge of my knife. From this day I hold every Union traiter as my enemy and from him I scorn to receive quarter and to him I will never grant my soul in death; for they are cowards and villains enough. Brother Henry and I arrived here without hinderance. I have had chills all the way, but I hope to live to kill forty Yankees for every chill that I ever had. I learn that Hardee is still in the Arkansas lines inactive, and if this proves to be true I will tender my resignation and go immediately to Kentucky. I hope that I will do my duty as a rebel and a freeman. Since I have the Union men of Ky. I intend to begin the work of murder in sernest and to begin the work of murder in earnest and if ever I spare one of them may hell be my portion. I want to see Union bleed flow deep enough for my horse to swim in. Your husband, James Blackburn.

Ball's Bluff were forged by some rebel for the purpose of drawing him into a trap The Times' correspondent says it is now definitely ascertained in military circles at Washington that Beauregard recently tendered his resignation as a General of the rebel army, in consequence of his difference with Jeff. Davis as to the manner of con-ducting the war. Violent parties have sprung up among the Confederates on this question; Beauregard representing the offensive war party, who believe in invading the North, and wintering in Baltimore, Philadelphia, and New York, and Jeff. Davis representing the defensive war party, who trust to sime and the patient defense of their own soil to give them independence. The Beauregard party complain that the policy of Davis has led to the invasion of South Carolina, and will fill the Southern States with the horrors of war, and end in their destruction, and it is believed that Davis has succumbed to the party to prevent South Carolina and Georgia from seceding

General Beauregard was induced to withdraw his resignation.

Kentucky has now furnished to the Gov-ernment her full quote of the half million of men called for the National defense, and proposes to raise as many more for State service, until the rebel armies are driven from her soil. Six thousand stand of French rifled muskets arrived here yesterday, and are already being distributed among our troops, by Colonel Kingsbury, the ordnance officer of General McClellan's staff. Several thousand more, now in New York, will arrive within a few days.

The Herald's correspondence says. A letter received from flag officer Foote, today, of the flotilla which is to operate on the Mississippi, states that he is making rapid progress, and will soon have it in readiness to proceed on its way. A letter to the herald, from G. F. Richards' cavalry had been dispatched, before the messenger left, to take possession of six brass cannon known to be near the town of Olney, Gov. Wise's old residence, and had doubtlessly done so. Col. Smith, commander of the rebel forces, and some of his officers, were trying to escape from the lower extremity, but Flag Officer Goldsborough has put the whole shore under surveillance, and it is believed that they will all be captured. WASHINGTON, Nov. 22 -The following appointments were made to-day: R. Smith, Iowa, to be an additional paymaster of Volunteers. Frederick C. Ogden, of New York, to be second Lieutenast of the first regiment U. S. Cavalry. Captain John M. Schoffield, of the first artillery, U. S. A, to be a Brigadier General of Volunteers. Major Thomas J. McKean, of Iowa, now an additional paymaster, to be a Brigadier General of Volunteers.

Rolla, Mo., Nov. 23 -McCulloch with a large force is now encamped between Springfield and Lebanon. His pickets extended last night over a space of fifteen miles this side of Lebanon. This is reliable. It was rumored in camp last night that the advance of the rebel army, 8.000 strong, was at the Gasconade, about thirteen miles west of here. This, however, is not credited.

THE CONDITION OF AFFAIRS AT CAMP BOYLE-ARRIVAL OF COLS. BRAMLETTE AND WOOL-FORD-ANTICIPATED MOVE OF REBELS ON CENTRAL KENTUCKY-GEN. THOMAS' BRIG-ADE TO MOVE INTO SOUTHERN KENTUCKY, CAMP BOYLE, NEAR COLUMBUS, ) November 21, 1861.

Editors Democrat-Gentlemen: Considerable excitement has prevailed in this county for some time on account of a threatened attack on the forces encamped at this place, under Cols. Grider and Haggard. Large bodies of rebels have been playing in this direction, evidently with a view of intimidating our forces and fright. ening them away. Emboldened by their success at Albany, Jimtown, Thompkins ville, and Greensburg, they now propose pushing their conquests to this place, and have even threatened to send all their cav alry from Bowlinggreen to effect their purpose. No odds what numbers they may send, we will give them a little "twist' any how.

Cols. Bramlette and Woolford arrived last evening with their regiments, and the excitement has quieted down. Their arrival inspired confidence in the desponding, and made the hearts of many "old gray heads" leap with joy. Col. B. is at home among his people, and they have the utmost confidence in his ability to protect them. I learn from reliable authority that Gen Sherman is of opinion that the rebels intend

Mr. Botts was tried by his honor, Judge French, on Monday-Chiles defending, and Dary and Tenny prosecuting—and, upon a full hearing, acquitted, on the ground that he shot Shea in self-defense, the latter pointing a pistol at Botts when he shot.

PAIN KILLER taken internally should be adulterated with milk or water, and sweetened with sugar if desired, or made into a syrup with molasses. For a COUGH a few drops on sugar eaten will be more effective than anything else. For SORE THROAT, gargle the throat with a mixture of Pain Rilier and water, and the relief is immediate and the the-ure positive.

It should not be forgotten that the Pain Kider is equally as good to take internally as to use externally Sach bottle is wrapped with full directions for its use. Piease read the orinied directions.

The PAIN KILLER is by universal consent allowed to have won for itself a reputation unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. Its instantaneous effect in the entire eradication and extinction o Pain, in all its various forms incidental to the human family, and the unsolicited written and verbal tectimony of the masses in its favor, have been and are its best advertisement. The best of ordience in favor of the Pain Killer for MINISTERS' SORE THROAT or BRON-CHITIS; read the following:

CHITIS; read the following:

Ouatonna, Minn. December 16, 1859

Messrs. J. N. Harris & Co.—Cents: * * * * * The Palu Killer has been a constant occupant of our house for over two years, and a portion of the time it has been the only medicine under our root. The almost uninterrupted leath of our seven children I can attribute to nothing else than having the means always at hand to throw off any sudden attack of disease, caused by undue exposure, etc. Hardly ever do I have my children c.mplath of being sick, without having them ask in the same sentence for Pain Killer.

For several years before I became acquainted with the Pain Killer, I had suffered a great deal from an affection in my throat, thought by some physicians to be BRONCHITIS, by others to be what is called MINISTERS' SORE THROAT; at once time it was so sever that I was obliged to give up preaching. Within a new months after I had become acquainted with the Pain Killer, I had another attack from that distressing complaint, I tried my new found medicine, and to my astendible southing effect, in a short time I was wholly relieved. Since that time I have had a number of attacks of the same nature, and the Pain Killer has always afforded me the relief. For the last Tan Years I have hardly tota a zermon in consequence of Sore Throat! About one year since, my wife became subject to severe suffering from Rheumatism; our resort as usual, was to the Pain Killer, which would always relieve her. When we could use as much of it as was necessary, we bathed the parts affected freely, and then rubbed them well.

I have not time now to say more, as I could with a hearty goed will, and always have done in praise of the Pain Killer. It unis hastily written letter in commendation of Perry Davis' valuals in medicine will be of any service in introducing it into the families of the afflicted, it will do a great work, because I know the medicine's value, and you are all liberty to do with it what you please.

GENTLEMEN-I deem it a duiv as well as a pleasure to Inform you what Da. WEAVER'S SYRUP and CE. RATE has done for me, and hope this letter may come to the notice of persons similarly afflicted. In the year 1850 I was attacked with tetter or some kindred disease, on both my legs, which extended until from my knees to my feet was one raw sore. I consulted and obtained medicines and prescriptions from nearly all the physicians in this vicinity, but obtained no relief. JEFF, DAVIS IS GOING TO SPREAD BEFORE THE WORLD PROOFS OF THE INEFFICIENT BLOCKADE!

Washington, Nov. 23.—The Richmond papers of Wednesday last contain the mes. age of President Davis to the Congress of the rabel States. After the usual congratulations he says : "The operations of the army, soon to be partially interrupted by the approach of winter, have offered protection to the country, and shed a glo-rious radiance upon its army through the trying vicissitudes of more than one arduous campaign, which entitle our brave volunteers to our praise and gratitude." Further on he says: "After more than heard, seven months of war, the enemy have not "Bu fensive, and, upon a fair comparison be tween the two beligerents, as to men, military means and financial condition, the Confederate States are relatively much stronger now than when the struggle commenced." He speaks in high tones of the people of the State of Missouri, "who," he fensive, and, upon a fair comparison bepeople of the State of Missouri, "who," he independent of the rest of the world."

says, "conducted the war in the face of He concludes as follows: the enemy and prevent their occupation of necessity of self defense on the part of the Confederate States, but also by the desire to aid the people of Kentucky. It was never intended by the Confederate Government to conquer or coerce the people of that State, free to express their opinions. These dec-

"While," he says, "the army has been chiefly instrumental in prosecuting the great contest, the navy has also been effective in full proportion to its means."

He speaks of the difficulties attending mail transportation, "some of which," he well so far, and promises good results for the future. To the extent that Treasury notes may be issued, the Government is enabled to borrow money without interest, and thus facilitate the conduct of the war. This extent is measured by the field of circular the conduct of the war. This extent is measured by the field of circular three conducts of the war. This extent is measured by the nead of circulation which these notes can be made to occupy. The proportion of the field thus occupied depends again upon the amount of the debts for which they are receivable.

The Richmond Whig announces the death the debts for which they are receivable, and when due, not only to the Confederate of John Hughes, a delegate to the State and State governments, are payable in this medium. A large portion of it may be circulated at par There is every reason to The Richmond Examiner of Wednesday proposition that these notes shall be convert- ment between Floyd and Rosecrans. itible into Confederate stock, bearing 8 ductive energies." In another part of his message he says: "We have already two main systems of through transportation from the North to the South-one from Richmond along the seahoard, and the other through Western Virginia to New Orleans. A third might be secured by completing a link of about 41 miles between Danville, in Virginia, and Greensborough, in North Carolina. The construction of this comparatively short line would give us a through route from North to South, in the interior of the Confederate States, and give us access to a population and to military resources from which we C. a judicious use of our resources, it would be difficult to fix a limit to the point during which we could conduct a war against the adversary whom we now encounter. The very efforts which he makes to desolate and divide us must exhaust this means, while they were to complete the circle and diversify the productions of our industrial system, the reconstruction of which he seeks to effect by considerations which daily become more and more palpably impossible. Not only do the causes which induced us to separate still last in full force, but they have been strengthened, and whatever doubt may lingered in the minds of any, must have been completely dispelled by subsequent events. If, instead of being the dissolution of a league, it were indeed a rebellion in which we were engaged, we might find ample vindication for the course we have adopted in the scenes which are now being enacted in the United States. Our people now look back with contemptuous astonishment on those with whom they have been so recently associated. They shrink with aversion from the bare idea of renewing such a connection, &c., with such a people. we may be content to live at peace, but our separation from them is final, and for the independence we have asserted, we will be seening.

President Davis characterizes the nature species of war which claims non-combatants—women and children—as its victums, they must expect to be treated as outlaws and enemies of mankind. There are certain rights of humanity which are entitled to respect even in war; and he who refuses to regard them forfeits his claim, if captured, to be considered a prisoner of war, and must expect to be dealt with as an offender against all law, human and divine. But, not content with violating our rights, under the law of uations, at home, they have extended their injuries to us within other jurisdictions. The distinguished gentlemen who, with your approval at the last session, were commissioned to represent the Confederacy at certain foreign Courts, have recently been seized by the Captain of a United States vessel of war while on board a British mail steamer, on a voyage from ship, and below its flag, as if they had been tors and citizens even of the United States, they could not have been arrested on board of a British ship, or on British soil, unless under an express treaty, and according to the formes therein provided for the extradition of criminals President Davis speaks of Mr. Faulkner as having been perfidiously sarested, and says that in conducting this war, "we have sought no aid and proposed no alliances, offensive and defensive, abroad. Perhaps we had the right, if we had chosen to exercise it, to ask to know whether the principle that blockades to be binding must be effective, so solemnly announced by the great Powers of Europe at Paris, is generally enforced or applied only to particular parties."

Mr. Davis says he has caused the evidence to be collected, which proves com-pletely the utter inefficiency of the proclaimed blockade of the Southern coast, and

"But although they should be benefitted dry hides. only failed to extend the occupancy of our soil, but new States and Territories have been added to our Confederacy, while, instead of their threatened marches of unchecked conquest, they have been driven, at more than one point, to assume the defensive and where a few companies have each successful prosecution of the war. erate States will expedite a steadily inwill, at least, have the consciousness that charge of Capt. Alf. M. Davidson.

He concludes as follows: almost insuperable difficulties with a "While the war which is waged to take spirit and success alike worthy of themselves from us the right of self government can and of the great cause in which they were never attain that end, it remains to be seen He continues: "Finding that how far it may work a revolution in the struggling." He continues: "Finding that the Confederate States were about to be invaded through Kentucky, and that her invaded through Kentucky, and that her people, after being deceived into a mistaken own. In the meantime we shall continue armies were marched into that State to repel we cannot conceal the secrets of our hearts, and to whose ru'e we confidently submit our certain strategetic points which would have destinies. For the rest, we shall depend given them great advantage in the contest; upon ourselves. Liberty is always won a step which was not only justified by the where there exists the unconquerable will eousness of our cause." IKE PARTINGTON AT HILLTOP -The indomitable lke was spending vacation at Hilltop, from whence he wrote as follows to the Boston Courier:

L'm having the tip-

"Bully for vacation. I'm having the tiptoppest time you ever see. Uncle Narhe was as glad to see me as he could be, for he's a cross old curmudgeon, and makes the boys toe the mark, I tell you. He said he hoped I'd be good, and I said I shouldn't be anything else. He whispered something to Aunt Hetty, and looked at me, but I didn't seem to mind it. He's got a new horse that is very old, and pretends he can't go along unless you push him with a whip. It is all sham, for I stuck a brad into a stick and touched him with it, and he went like smoke. He kicked his hind heels through tha dasher, broke the wagon and landed me and Bill into the ditch. Uncle Nathe said he couldn't see what had got into the beast, but I guess it was the brad, though I thought it wasn't best to mention it.

"We had a flag raising here yesterday. It was big fun, you'd better believe. We hadn't any flag; so I got one of Aunt Het-ty's sheets, and painted a blue square in the corner with her indigo bag and chalked says: out some stars; then I got Uncle Nathe's pot of red paint that he marks his sheep with and made some elegant stripes, and the flag was done. We took a bran new cod line of Uncle Nathe's for halyards, then cut down a nice little maple for a pole. and nailed it up on the barn. One of the neighbors went down and told Uncle Nathe take a little wine for his stomach's sake." what we were doing, and he came up from the meadows as mad as a top. I seen by the way he soted that he was a Secessioner. He took down the flag that we had conse-crated, and I couldn't stand it, so I made him a speech, and told him that the flag he up from the official statements: had pulled down was the emblem of our right to do as we pleased, and he had better be careful how he trifled with the spirit of liberty. I'd better not said it, because all the boys had to go to bed without supper that night, and Aunt Hetty gave us a great talking to about the sheet. What a fuss folks make about trifles.

to Virginians. One, Eugene E. McLean, is now an invalid in Richmond. He was a "But we had some fine fun next day with Uncle Nathe. He's got a big white reoster, that he sets everything by. So we caught him and colored one of his wings blue, the other red, and he looked as fine as anything you ever saw. The hens didn't know what to make of him, and they all seceded. When Uncle Nathe came home the first thing he saw was his crower, who got up on the woodpile and yelled 'Yankee Doodle do,' as loud as he could bawl. Uncle Nathe didn't know what to think of it at first, but when he saw the fun of the thing he didn't laugh by the New York World, as it says, by any."

A DARING EXPLOIT .- Among the many A Daring Exploit.—Among the many by authority, viz: "He who quarrels with the instances where the bravery of our officers terms of Gen Sherman's proclamation, quarrels and men has shown conspicious, the one we are about to relate is almost unequaled:

Captain Spencer, aid to General Wool, received information from two ladies who went from Norfolk to Fort Monroe with a flag of truce, that near midnight a six cared boat was to leave Nerfolk for Richmond with money for the payment of rebel soldiers. He requested permission of M.j. Gen. Wool to attempt their capture, and in the information received. Nevertheless, permission was given, and selecting two ood oarsmen on whom he could rely, with their oars muffled, he started at dark, and awaited the coming of the enemy's boat. He had previously given direction to his Our friends in the country remitting odd men to pull directly for the boat, and the change will please send us no denomination moment of striking to "back water" in-stantly. It costs fifty cents per month or five mer, and arming himself with his pistol in dollars per year, sent to any address, by one hand and a dirk (taken by him at the battle of Bull Run from a "Secesh") in the other, he took them in his boat one by one, handcuffing them as they were pulled in In addition to which, from the stern of the enemy's boat, which floated, he took eleven hundred dollars in gold, and five thousand brokers. dollars in their worthless paper money. It was with some difficulty that he reached the Fort, the gunwale of the beat being almost | nis office, Third street, between Market and level with the water with its increased freight.

A BRAVE BOY AND A GALLANT SAILOR. One of the powder boys on the Bienville, LIVER INVIGORATOR, in another col-William Henry Steele by name, deserves ann. particular attention. He is only fourteen years old, a bright, active fellow, and performed his duties with signal bravery. It was his duty to hand cartridges to one of the gunners. While the Bienville was in the thickest of the engagement, the balls whistled fiercely over the deck and splashed about in the water, but he never wavered. A large rifled shot struck the water some distance from the steamer, bounded upward. and, crashing through the beam, tore through the bodies of two men standing near him at his gun, and wounded two others. He handed his cartridge to the gunner, and, stepping over the bodies, brought a fresh supply of ammunition, with which he continued his labors.

After the fight, Captain Steedman, in thanking his men for their noble conduct, especially commended the bravery of young Steele. During a part of the time the Bienville was the mark for almost the entire fire of both rebel batteries, and her crew displayed the greatest heroism. The first shot fired at her struck, and was one of the most s rious. Her guns were in such constant use that they became hot, and almost leaped from the deck at each discharge. It is really wonderful that her damage is so very immaterial. Beyond a hole between decks, another through the beam, just at the lower part of the gunwale, a cut shroud, and a battered stove pipe (not smoke stack) she is unharmed.

The Wabash also came in for a large share of the fight. A cannon shot passed along her deck and struck Thomas Jackson, the coxswain. The ball nearly carried away one of his legs, leaving it so that it Hung only by shreds of flesh and skin. Leaning ast a gun, he drew out his sheath-knife and tried to cut it off entirely. The knife was too dull, and his shipmates hastened to him and carried him below. He kept continually asking how the fight progressed, "I hope we'll win. I hope we'll beat He died in two hours, his last words expressing happiness that he had done something for his country.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, Is a constitutional disease, a corruption, of the blood, by which this find becomes vitates, wask and poor. The popular belle in "impurity of the blood" is founded in truth, for scrotula is a degeneration of the blood. The particular purpose and virtue of this Sarsar arilla is, to putify and regenerate this vital ruid, without which, sound health is impossible in contaminated constitutions.

WE ARE ENABLED HERE TO OFFER THE COMmunity a remedy which, while it cures the above complaints with certainty, is still perfectly harmless in any quantity. Such a remedy is invaluable in districts where these afflicting disorders prevail. This "Cures" expels the miasmatic poison of FEVER and AGUE from the system, and prevents the development of the drease, if taken on the first approach of its premonitory symotoms. It is not only the best remedy ever yet discovered for this class of complaints, but also the cheapest. The large quantity we supply for a doller brings it within the reach of everybody; and in bilious districts, where Fever and Ague prevails, everybody should have it and use it freely both for cure and protection. It is hoped this price will place it within the reach of all—the poor as well as the rich. A great superiority of this remedy over any other ever discovered for the speedy and certain cure of Intermittents is that it contains no quinion or mineral; consequently, it produces no quinism or other injurious effects whatever upon the constitution. Those cured by it are left as healthy as if they had never had the disease.

Fever and Ague is not alone the consequence of the miasmatic poison. A great variety of disorders arise from its irritation, among which are—
Neuraleis, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Elindness, Painful Affection of the Epicen, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and Derangement of the cures hem all alike. It is an invaluable protection to immigrants and persons traveling or temporarily residing in the malarious districts. If taken occasionally or daily while exposed to the infection, that will be excreted from the system, and cannot accumulate in sufficient quantity to tipen into disease. Hence it is even more valuable for protection than cure, and few will ever suffer from intermittents if they avail themselves of the protection this remedy affords.
